

CHURCH FACES BRUTAL CRIME OF TWO SLAIN

Brought to Chicago for Murder of Two, Youth Protests Innocence.

to visit at Adams. Church was arrested as he entered the town Friday night.

From the very first Church protested his innocence of all knowledge of the tragedy. He said that he had paid Daugherty in cash for the automobile and had a receipt to prove it.

He admitted, however, that the finding of evidence of the crime in his apartment was part of a plot of enemies. "It's a frameup," he was quoted as telling the detectives and said that he had made enemies by acting as a strike breaker in the railroad yardmen's strike.

In commenting on Church's statement that he had a receipt showing that he had paid Daugherty for the automobile officials of the Packard company said that it was probable that the salesman had carried the receipt with him when he left their office. They said that it was customary to make out the receipt before payment had been made so that it would be ready when the money had been turned over.

Miss Anna Barrett said in the Church's defense and her father were questioned at the detective bureau early today.

Church gave as his reason for desiring to purchase the Packard car the assertion that his father, who lives at Eagle River, Wis., had instructed him to buy a car.

Police were bewildered today in a maze of theories as to the motive for the slaying of Daugherty, and probably of Aenusius also, and the method in which the deed was consummated. Church is a small man of rather slight physique while Daugherty was a powerful man.

Daugherty and Aenusius left the Packard agency Thursday morning to deliver the car to Church. Church is said to have made efforts to induce Daugherty to leave Aenusius behind. Half an hour after leaving the agency, Daugherty telephoned that payment was to be made at the Madison and Kedzie State bank and a chauffeur was sent to bring Daugherty and Aenusius back after the car had been delivered.

Neither Daugherty, Aenusius or Church appeared at the bank and the first two never have been seen alive since. It later was learned that Church had no account at the bank but that his mother had a small sum on deposit.

HARDING WILL SPEND WEEK-END AT RESORT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 10.—President Harding and party, motoring from Washington to Atlantic City, N. J., for a few days outing, stopped in Philadelphia tonight for dinner. The party arrived at 7:15, after a five hour ride from Washington and took dinner at a hotel.

The run from Washington was made under pleasant skies and was without particular incident. Occasionally the party was recognized by some person on the road and the president cordially acknowledged their greetings.

At Behlert, Md., the motor cars were halted to let a tiny black kitten, that was in the middle of the roadway cross. The president planned to proceed to Atlantic City immediately after dinner.

NIGHT SCHOOL

SELF IMPROVEMENT AND A BRIGHTER FUTURE.

"Where will you be next year, standing still, or headed for a brighter future?" is a question which should claim the attention of every ambitious young man or woman at this time.

"Service" is the watchword of the hour. If you have large service to offer you can earn large rewards. If the service you render is small, your reward will be small.

Thoroughly organized specialized training for business is what we offer you in our night school. All business branches, stenography and professional accounting and auditing are taught by a faculty of men and women who know the problems of young folks and the subjects upon which they have specialized.

Come to the South Bend Business College, corner Michigan and Monroe streets, next Monday evening, and begin your preparation for a brighter and better future. Let nothing interfere with your coming. It will be an important step toward business independence.—Adv't.

AMERICANS ENLIST IN HAYWOOD'S IDEA FOR RUSS 'UTOPIA'

L. W. W. Chief in Exile Invites Other Yanks to Famine-Stricken Nation.

MOSCOW, Sept. 10.—Russia holds out the solution to the unemployment problem in the United States. American workers will find the social and industrial freedom they have sought all their lives over here today, "Big Bill" Haywood, L. W. W. leader told the press correspondent in an exclusive interview today.

"Here is a scheme I have been planning since I arrived in Moscow," Haywood said. "It's my idea to have, in certain prosperous parts of Russia, all manner of workmen's units, such as lumbermen, industrial workers, coal and metal miners, and so forth. They will form their own industrial administrations within the Russian state, exchanging with the government their production for tools and those daily necessities which they cannot produce themselves."

"I had planned these workers' units at length, theoretically now I've inaugurated my scheme practically."

Lumberjacks Find Work.
"One hundred and sixty-eight American lumberjacks who recently arrived from Seattle found a basis for such work at Kuznetsky basin, east of the Ural mountains. There they found several small colonies of miners living in two-family flats, in houses which seemed palaces compared with the houses of coal miners in England and the United States."

"There's the necessary machinery for a start. Other such colonies will speedily be built by industrial units. Those Seattle lumberjacks start next week. They're busy now completing their necessary outfits of warm clothing, tools and so forth, which the Soviet government readily supplies."

Would Be "Pioneers."
"The lumberjacks will be pioneers the wood that is necessary for building houses before the arrival of their fellow workers. It will not be long before such communities reach the American standard of living. Their work will also influence the Russian workers and give them an idea of American 'pep.'"

Haywood has appointed a commission of 17 to remain at the Kuznetsky basin and has sent others to favorable places in the Don region and in Turkestan.

"While there are nearly 10,000,000 unemployed in America and millions of others elsewhere, here's the opportunity for them to build the idealistic state they've been dreaming of and fighting for all their lives."

"From a political viewpoint, we ought to tell the workers to remain in America. The more unemployed the better."

"But as a friend of the workers, I say to all my friends who are looking for real liberty 'come to Russia.'"

25 WATCHING MEN HUNT BODY, DROWN AS BRIDGE FAILS

Crowd Gathered on Long Bridge Plunged Suddenly Into River Waters.

foot path gave way. Those who fell into the water first had no chance of escape as others came tumbling upon them.

Use Ladders as Screen.
The accident happened just as the tide was at ebb. Rescuers realized that it would soon flow out and possibly carry bodies into the Delaware river. First department ladders were stuck into the water so as to form a screen and prevent any bodies in the river from going out with the tide. Fishing nets also were used for this purpose.

Only the footway of the bridge collapsed. The rest of the bridge remained intact and it was sufficiently strong to permit a score of men to do rescue work from it. On the river 20 launches and rowboats worked under searchlights as the tide flowed out.

The scene of the accident is near the business section of the city. A moving picture theater is nearby and people coming from there helped to swell the crowd in the structure. James Emerbe of Chester, was standing near the bridge when the accident occurred. He dragged 23 men, women and children from the water. Nine of them upon examination were found to be dead.
